

PlaySphere

Your portable corporate-sports profile — set it up once, carry it across employers.

Where Teams Compete, Connect & Grow

1. What you get with a player account

Your PlaySphere profile is your universal corporate-sports identity. Even when you change companies, your stats, photos and Cric Heroes link travel with you.

- One profile, every tournament you ever play.
- Searchable by name, city, mobile — recruiters & captains can find you.
- Profile view counter shows how often other players check you out.
- Link your Cric Heroes profile so detailed match stats are one click away.

2. Sign up

- 1 Open /players/signup from the footer link “Player account”.
- 2 Enter your full name, mobile number, password.
- 3 Pick your current company from the dropdown. If your company isn't listed yet, ask your HR team to onboard at /signup-company first.
- 4 Click Create player account — you land straight in your profile editor at /players/me.

Your mobile number is your login ID. It's only fully visible to you — other users see “.... 1234” unless they're you.

3. Complete your profile

Profiles are heavily skewed toward cricket but work for any sport.

City, DOB	Where you're based and your date of birth
Playing role	Batsman / Bowler / All-rounder / Wicket-keeper / Any
Batting hand	Right or Left
Bowling style	Right-arm-fast / spin / etc.
Jersey number	Optional integer; shown on your card
Height & weight	Optional

Cric Heroes link	Paste your cricheroes.com profile URL — appears as a button on your public page
Bio	A short pitch about yourself

4. Changing company

Your profile is portable. When you switch jobs:

- 1 Open /players/me.
- 2 Use the Company dropdown and pick your new employer.
- 3 Click Save profile. Your stats, history, photo and Cric Heroes link all stay; only your company badge updates.

If your new employer isn't on PlaySphere yet, you can stay on "Independent" until they onboard — your profile keeps working.

5. Find other players

- 1 Open /players/profiles from the nav ("Find players").
- 2 Search by name, city or partial mobile number.
- 3 Click any card to view their full profile.
- 4 Your own profile shows a view counter — it increments each time a different player visits you. Self-views don't count, so refreshing your own page doesn't inflate it.

6. Getting added to a team

When your HR team builds a tournament roster they'll see your name in the company players list. You don't need to do anything — make sure your role, jersey number and Cric Heroes link are filled so they know what to slot you as.

Tournament teams are managed by the HR account. If you joined the wrong company by mistake, fix it under /players/me — your roster card on existing teams stays where HR placed it.
